Contribute to the future of the oil and gas industry today

A slump in oil prices, stiffer competition on markets, doing business in the context of sanctions all require non-standard managerial decisions to enable successful development of Russia's oil and gas sector.

A constructive dialogue to share views and working together to address new issues helps us all take unusual and resolute decisions and move forward. The future of the oil and gas industry starts now, and it depends on you.

On 21–22 September 2016, the most high-profile and reputed congress in Russia's oil and gas industry will be held at the unique Tyumen Technopark venue.

The Forum offers an unmatched opportunity to meet market professionals, discuss industry challenges, and provide a common response.

The Forum is also a unique opportunity for your company to show itself and declare its ambitions at a high-powered event.
